THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

(By Dan E. Campbell)

Opening of the new motor to the between Jasper and Lake Louise scheduled for July 1st, it was learned in the Alberta Travel Bureau this week. On June 23rd the Big Bend Hotel, 21st and 10th, and the new hotel will be officially opened by Hon. H. C. Crever, federal mines and resource minister. This latter road of approximately 200 miles, will form a connecting link in the Trans-Canada highway, and will make the motor route from Banff to Vancouver easier.

There will be thrown open a twin traction which will do a great deal to encourage visitors to Alberta. Officials of the Mountain Skyway, itself is expected to attract large numbers of outside visitors, an enterprise to this class of enterprise is advised to lay plans for the big year yet.

Alberta's carefully planned advertising campaign in U.S. which opened early this month, is bringing in results already. Commencing next week after the first advertisement appeared, applications for tourist information are growing in number daily. They come from all parts of the Union, and are a pointer to bigger and better business in the forthcoming year.

Prerogative and dissolution came in one breath. By the following Monday the legislative buildings were deserted by all former representatives in a curious situation in February, the month of law making. Remaining at the members of the executive council and Social Credit board, now headed by Floyd M. Smith, chairman of G. L. McLean has gone to the Calgary regiment (Thank) as a special lieutenant. As has been noted, they will require full time attention, he resigned his position with the board. And as the board was a legislative body, an amendment to the Social Credit Realization act now permits the executive to name board members. Otherwise it would have ceased with the legislature.

A record enumeration of voters is expected by officials for the provincial vote on March 21, and 400,000 is given as a reasonable estimate for 1935 was the last time the number of voters was counted. Supplies for returning officers are being forwarded immediately by R. A. Anderson, chief electoral officer for the Province. Returning officers will post proclamations and orders on polling sub-divisions by Saturday. March 2nd. Enumerators will hold sittings Tuesday, March 19, to consider applications for the voters list which will have been posted on March 9th.

On Wednesday, March 20, enumerators will hold sittings to grant certificates and the corrected and revised voters' list must be handed to the returning officer between 4 p.m. on March 20 and 8 a.m. on March 21. Should advance polls be held they will be opened on Thursday 14, Friday 15, and Saturday 16 of March. Election day on the 17th of March will see city and suburban polls from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. while rural polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

LOCAL GUNNERS WIN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

In a thrilling encounter with Medicine Hat last night the Gunners came out on top with a 5-3 score. At the time the score stood 5-1, but the power plays by the Hat boys counted two goals. The total goals of the two games will decide the winner, the second game is to be played at the late tomorrow night. E. Lester made a first goal for Gleichien and R. E. Clifford the other four. T. Brown, C. Brown, K. Schmidt and E. Lister were given credit for assists.

MIDGET TIGERS WIN FIRST PLAYOFF GAME

Gleichen Midget Tigers defeated Calgary Colts in the first game of the Midget playoffs in Calgary with a score of 3-2. Waterhouse and Turner scored the goals for the Tigers, while Wight and Brown were credited with helping. Brown proved to be the Calgary player, as he scored both goals. He assisted. Two penalties were handed out, both going to Turningsboro. Gleichen's Gleichen swept to a 3-1 lead but lived somewhat near 15th of the game. This is the first game to ever enter a midget. ## UNNERS WON SECOND ROUND FROM GARRISON

The Gunners won the second round of the intermediate playoffs last night when the Calgary Garrison defeated Saturday night. In the on played Gleichen won by 3-1. As 15 below Saturday night an upsets it was just as well there was a game, for no doubt the crowd would have been very small. If Gleichen wins this week the Gunners will be in the finals for Southern Alberta.

OLD SUN GRADS WIN FIRST ROUND IN PLAYOFF SERIES

Old Sun Grads took the first round of the B series last Thursday night when the Calgary Garrison defeated Saturday night. In the on played Gleichen won by 3-1. ## POLITICS EXPLAINED

Just at present when politics are hot the following forms of government as applied to the farmer are interesting. Here they are in a nut shell:

Prerogative—The farmer has two cows, he keeps one and gives the other to his neighbor.

Communism—The farmer gives both cows to the state who gives him a small part of the milk.

Fascism—The farmer keeps both cows, gives the milk to the state, which lets him buy it back.

The New Deal—The government shoots one cow, buys the milk of the second and pours it down the sewer.

Technocracy—The government shoots both cows and manufacturers named milk.

Nationalism—The government shoots the farmer and takes both cows.

Capitalism—The farmer sells one cow and buys a bull.

Social Credit—The government shoots the bull.

There are more than 700 names on the federal voters list for Gleichen. If all voted it would establish a record here.

CARNIVAL WAS GREAT SUCCESS DESPITE COLD WEATHER

Despite the 10 to 15 below weather. Friday night a large crowd came out to see the ice carnival. The crowd must have enjoyed itself because it was around eleven before it began to thin out. All the even that took place created keen interest.

There were quite a number of magicians present and a lot of the evidently had good luck with their magic. Miss Gertrude Desardine and Martin McLean won the most votes and were crowned king and queen in a colorful ceremony. It was noted that the king trembled violently—evidently less than the queen.

The roster chasing event did not last very long both birds being caught in short order.

Races of every description were on and proved interesting.

The hockey game between the Red and the Gladiators was won by the former outfit by the score 2-1. Like a lot of hockey games a free fight developed. After 10 minutes the game was on smoothly but the Gladiators were so weakened by the scrap the Red scored the extra goal with 15 minutes left.

The physical training display given by Instructor Nelson and his pupils was another interesting event on how just what and how adept they are becoming in the different things they learn.

INS. A. N. MCLEAY
HOSTESS TO
LADIES U.F.W.A.

Mrs. A. N. McLeay was hostess to the ladies of the U.F.W.A. at their meeting when eighteen members and a few visitors were present. The meeting opened with two songs, Long Ago and Where do we go from Here. Roll call was answered by What I would like to do.

After the business was dealt with the social hour was given. Members, Mrs. G. McLean and Mrs. Jennings were appointed to supervise the work in this connection. It was announced that all members had duly donated to the Red Cross sampler on Feb. 16th.

The usual social hour was read by Mrs. J. C. Hutchison and proved very interesting. A paper was given by Mrs. J. C. Hutchison on moving children from cities to country in England.

The ladies of the U.F.W.A. are making a quilt which they hope to raise some money to help fund the re-wiring of the Meadowbrook Hall.

The usual social hour was very much enjoyed. After a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and helpers the meeting then adjourned to meet again on Thursday 29th.

THE RUM ISSUE

BY FRED JONAS

This Column Given to News of the Gleichen Branch of the Canadian Legion

Stand To!

The officers and members of the Gleichen Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S., wish to thank every one who contributed to the War Services drive. There are one or two collectors yet to hear from and we will give the amount later.

Because we are far removed from the war zone don't think that we are not at war. That fact will become more apparent as time goes on. There are some who do not seem to realize that we are in for our existence. It was the same in the last war. Those who sent their men knew very well what it was all about but there were some in every community in Canada who did not know the jack without making any sacrifice, and the same ones must regard this conflict with secret delight as another opportunity to make in the chips again. However, it may turn out differently as times have changed and distance has been cut down, tying all the countries in the commonwealth more closely to the mother country and involving them in the struggle with her. Of course, this kind of promise will not entirely overlook or forget the profiteers, that would be too unkind. Wholesale prices on shoes have advanced so much that one line we know which has sold at $5.50 in all retail stores will advance when the present stocks run out to $6.50, without giving the store keeper any more profit. There seems no valid reason for the advance as hides have sold at rock bottom prices for a long time and the workers haven't had any wage increases.

The ash trays mentioned by a friend in last week's Call are still riding high, but the chances of the Foreign Legion rink went with the wind when the tough James rink took it to the cleaners by only one point. But a pleasant time was had by all and it helped the curling club a little.

My friend, why did you make fun of poor Uncle Leo for buying those baby shoes? You will never be an movie actress but you may be an uncle some day and then you will know me and be sorry that you picked up Uncle Leo's shoes.

The carnival turned out well but owing to the cold was a little wet as it should. The hockey game was a thriller and was played under home conditions. The Red and the Gladiators and the devil take the rest of them. The recruiting officer of Jones Foreign Legion did a roaring business as the ancient left the ice. They are the kind of men we want. Their age and the heron skin they suits they prove that they have what it takes.

We missed what promised to be a good game last week when the Gunners were to have played the Garrison. Through unforeseen circumstances the Calgary Garrison were forced to default the second game which was to be played here.

What is probably the coldest spell we will experience this winter is with us right now, but the month is well away and signs of spring are not far off although it will be quite a while yet before we can pick the crops. The tractor schools and other spring activities are on the slide and before we know it the season will be over and we will carry on with the jolly old war, what?

The Huns made a terrible howl when the Altmark incident took place and the British navy rescued the sailors who were to have been paraded through the streets of Hamburg. Like captive slaves to make a Roman holiday for the Goebbels propaganda machine. The Nazis would likely have settled the ship if the navy had stopped it on the high seas and let the prisoners drown. The British way is to forgive and forget but the things that happened during the last war and what have happened already in this will end some of the sentimentality that has stopped us from finishing the last war properly. The French will see that there will be no chance to invade their country again for a while. If France had been allowed to stop Hitler when he re-occupied the Rhineland the war would never have broken out.

Lights Out!

The Red Cross committee wish to thank all those who very kindly donated to the hamper and to the supper and to those who willingly gave their help and support in this effort to raise money for comforts for our soldiers. The sum of $56 was realized from the sale of tickets on the hamper. $108 was taken at the door and after all expenses were paid $115 was handed over to the treasurer. In their first local effort, the committee feels that this is a most gratifying amount, and hopes for the continued support of all in this good work.

Canadians need an additional 4,700 physicians and 6,323 dentists according to the report of a study conducted by Grant Fleming, dean of the faculty of medicine at McGill University. The report says that there are 10,631 doctors and 4,839 dentists already practicing in this country, but claims that all classes of Canadiana require inadequate attention. About Right up from the ancient Egyptians who practised the art of Brewing earlier than 450 B.C., the Greeks and Germans used Beer as a beverage and understood the principles of malting. Pliny tells us of the use of beer in Spain under the name of Cella, Celta and Cervisia, and says—

"The natives who inhabited the west of Europe have a beverage made from corn and water. They brew it so well that it will keep good for a long time."

Modern Hospitalization

During the past few years a great deal of publicity has been given to the extraordinary advances which have been made in the field of medicine and surgery. Magazines and newspapers have devoted, and still are devoting, a great deal of space to new discoveries in the warfare against disease and death, to new methods and agents of immunization against communicable ailments, to new anaesthetics which are going far today to rob operations of their former terrors, and to new medicines and treatments that today are curing diseases which a few years ago spelled almost certain death.

Not so much, however, is being said or written of the remarkable progress which has been made in the field of hospitalization and hospital practice in the past few years, although the hospitals of the country are keeping step with the advances made in medicine, surgery and anaesthesia. It is not a far cry back to the days when the average individual shunned the hospital as a place to be avoided at all costs, when people begged the doctors not to send them to a hospital for treatment; when the kitchen table was preferred, at least for minor operations, to the facilities afforded by the operating rooms in the hospitals; when the risks of infection, incurred by such treatments in the home were regarded with less fear than the unknown experiences, and often wrongly anticipated experiences, which were expected in the hospitals.

To whatever extent such fears and alarms at the prospects of a sojourn in the hospital may or may not have been warranted in the past, there is certainly no need for them today. There is no justification for dread at the necessity for making a stay in the modern hospital, such as it is to be found ministering to the sick and injured, and in the larger centre of population, but even in many of the smaller towns.

The Patient's First

The care and attention that is given the patient in the up-to-date hospital is beyond reproach. The service is invariably excellent. The rigid precautions taken to prevent infection in the operating room and the wards coupled with such treatments in the home were regarded with less fear than the unknown experiences, and often wrongly anticipated experiences, which were expected in the hospitals.

There are, of course, at all times, in the hospitals, patients who are fractious and cantankerous. This, however, is to be expected, when it is remembered that a sick person is not a normal person, but even these cases are sympathetically treated and their whims and petulances are catered to as far as is reasonably possible and to the extent that it may not be injurious for them.

"The patient is the first consideration, and must at all times be given the utmost consideration." That appears to be the slogan in the well run hospital of today, and it might be said in praise of the modern hospitals in Western Canada that they are being operated on a highly efficient basis.

One of the many phases of hospital administration which has shown marked improvement in recent years is the dietary. When patients have reached that stage in their recovery from sickness or an operation that they may be safely put on full diet, they find their meal trays well laden with well-cooked foods in great variety, served in tempting form and in ample quantity. The preparation of these meals is under the guidance of an expert dietitian who balances the calories and measures out the vitamins essential to good nourishment and the needs of the patient.

Chances Improved

Much of this improvement in hospital technique as well as in equipment and standard in Western Canada is due to the action of the administrative boards in subjecting their institutions to annual inspection and rating by the American College of Surgeons. When a few of the larger hospitals adopted this policy some years ago it was not long before the others followed suit and the large percentage of Western Canadian hospitals that year in and year out are awarded the highest possible rating, speaks volumes for the earnestness with which the governing boards and the medical and lay staffs accept recommendations and adopt improvements as rapidly as circumstances and finances permit.

And so the day is past when the hospital need be shunned by the sick and the injured. Rather, it is an institution to be courted by those who have need of its services. Indeed, the prospect of a speedy recovery from illness or accident are much greater today in the Western Canadian hospital than a few years ago and very much greater than in the home.

A Very Old Skeleton

Elephant's Bones Indicate It Weighs Over Eight Tons

The skeleton of a prehistoric elephant nearly 16 feet long and 13 feet tall, has been put on exhibition in the Paleontological Museum in Odessa, Russia. It is estimated that the monster lived 200,000 years ago and weighed at least eight tons.

The skeleton was found recently standing upright in the sands of the Khajibev estuary on the Black Sea coast.

Had Same Honor Twice

Ottawa Man Helped Draw Gun Carriage At Notable Funerals
The 25th anniversary of a young naval rating, Lieut.-Commander E. Haines, now at naval headquarters in Ottawa, helped man the gun carriage carrying the body of King George VI in the funeral procession after the horse broke away from the carriage.

He was second in command of the 60 ratings of the Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve who pulled the naval gun carriage taking Lord Tweedsmuir's body from St. Andrew's Presbyterian church to the Union Station as the last act in the state funeral. The unit was under Commander J. W. R. Roy of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Lieut.-Commander Haines was one of the 100 naval ratings in the Queen Victoria funeral procession who were ordered, on King Edward VII's approval, to pull the gun carriage from Windsor Station to St. George's chapel and then to Windsor Castle after the accident.

Frightened by the drums as the carriage was being pulled away from Windsor Station, the horses leaped forward, breaking the traces and leading to considerable confusion. The ratings went into action a few minutes later, however, and manned the gun carriage successfully.

Diet On Submarine

Have Delicacies Not Supplied To Men On Surface Ships

A dish of tinned prawns for supper on the bottom of the Heligoland Light is one of the oddities of naval warfare. Victualing for the crews of the submarine services includes a large number of delicacies which are not in the messing of surface ships.

The reason is health. The men get no normal exercise for the 17 or more days they are on patrol. Many of them do not see the sky for the whole time. Consequently they lose their appetite, and the provision of delicacies is intended to tempt them to eat. Moreover, their diet for the whole time they are away is carefully drawn up to give balanced nourishment.

The victualing department at the Admiralty has another wartime problem—the provision of stores for ships working far from the normal bases of supply. There has also been the question of dispersal of stocks to prevent total interference with the Navy's attacks in the event of severe air attack. A number of supply ships have been taken over, fitted with refueling plants to serve vessels in out-of-the-way places.—Manchester Guardian.

Finns Set Example

No People Ever Came Through Bitter Order With Finer Record
The Finnish people, as well as the Finnish army, have given a performance that entitles them to receive promptly, and not merely at the convenience of others, such help as the outside world is prepared to give them, whether that help takes the form of loans for "modern munitions," munitions themselves, volunteers or contributions for relief.

No people ever came through a bitter ordeal with a finer record. From the start they faced the fact that the longer their armies fought and the more damage they did to the prestige of the invader, the more terrible would be their punishment in defeat. They have not let that prospect rob them of their courage. They have not lost their fire or their self-respect.

To the bravery of their own troops they have responded with quiet sacrifice. To the cheap taunts and the vicious slander of the Kremlin they have replied with dignity. To the outside world they have given an example of democracy as every democrat must hope to find it in the hour of its trial: resourceful, self-reliant, generous, determined. The example is humble those who are moved to wonder whether their own faith could meet this cruel test.—New York Times.

Vital As Heligoland

Island Of Sylt Is Germany's Important Naval Base

The London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal, says:

Everybody knew all about Heligoland, Germany's famous base in the last war. Nobody outside Berlin circles knew anything about Sylt when this war started; yet Sylt, Germany's biggest island outside the Baltic, is just as vital from a naval and air standpoint now as Heligoland was formerly.

Forty miles north of Heligoland, Sylt is about 40 miles in extent, and is fitted up as a comprehensive air and naval base. Germany's mine-layers and bomb-carriers are launched from this island, which possesses A. A. defence, underground hangars and is connected with the mainland by the Hindenburg Dam, constructed at the cost of many millions at a time when we were asked to sympathize with an impoverished Germany, quite unable to meet her financial obligations.

The importance of Sylt is recognized by our naval and air people. Its civilian population, numbering 16,000, had been evacuated on September 2. If the Hindenburg Dam were badly broken, it would inconvenience German supplies to the island.

Many Women Employed

Members Have Increased Greatly In England Since Last War

Before the Great War, there were only 30 women to every 100 men employed in England. In 1918, female workers had picked up so many jobs left by soldiers that the ratio had risen to 56 women per 100 men. Last year, England had 42 women for every 100 men workers.

It is estimated that when the war gets into full swing and men now in factories are called to the colors, there will be 85 women for every 100 men working in England. Of the 22,638,000 people, 10,410,000 will be filled by female workers.

Canada's Fighting Men

Overseas Activities Of The Canadian Legion War Services

Belief that Canada's fighting men now in training at Aldershot are being better taken care of than were members of the first C.E.F. in 1914 was expressed at Ottawa by Captain A. E. "Jack" Moore, of Winnipeg, personal services officer of the Canadian Legion War Services, who has just returned to Canada after a two-months' stay in England.

Captain Moore, who is also Dominion Chairman of the Canadian Legion, went overseas with the 4th Division to assist in the establishment of the Legion's wartime organization at Aldershot and London.

"Our men do credit to Canada and to the glorious tradition of the old Canadian Corps," said Moore, who is cheerful and contented, their morale is wonderfully high and they have already created a most favourable impression on the people there. The present severe weather isn't the most pleasant," he added, "but they are getting excellent training and are supplied with plenty of warm clothes with which to combat the elements."

Captain Moore stated that the overseas activities of the Canadian Legion War Services are well under way and that several hundred members of the C.A.C. are now being sent for special instruction in the Legion's education program. This phase of the Legion's work has become very popular and many men are welcoming the opportunity to prepare themselves for their eventual return to civil life. He said that the Legion's personal services bureaux both at Aldershot and at London are used daily by scores of men seeking advice and guidance on various problems arising from active service.

Number Decreased

Fewer Immigrants Entered Canada Last Year Than In 1938

Canada opened her doors to 16,994 immigrants during 1939, a decrease by 17,244 in 1938, a decrease of 14 per cent, the immigration department reported.

The number entered from England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales totaled 3,541, an increase of 1.8 per cent, over the 1938 total of 3,489, while the number from the United States decreased 3.2 per cent, to 5,649 from 5,826.

Immigrants from northern European countries showed an 49.2 per cent increase, the total rising to 1,807 from 1,232. Other races accounted for 2,844, compared with 6,710 in 1938, a decrease of 12.2 per cent.

Of northern European races, immigrants of German origin increased to 1,071 from 968 in 1938.

British Naval Bases

Are Widely Scattered Making Work Of Home Patrol Hard

Great Britain announces her naval losses; Germany does not. When the British Admiralty admits the loss of two destroyers within the space of a few days, or of three submarines in a single day, the blunt news comes as an unbidden shock. As a matter of fact, such losses represent the normal attrition of a patrol system forced on the British by the conditions of the war.

German naval bases are all concentrated behind the island fortress of Heligoland. British bases are widely scattered and their home patrol must operate over vast stretches of water within a radius of at least 700 miles. To keep track of the German fleet they must send their smaller submarines right into Heligoland. Right. One of them sinks a German cruiser at the mouth of the Elbe, but the German patrol closes over it in a matter of hours. To keep track of German submarines and surface raiders, British destroyers must cruise far into the sea lanes north of Scotland. There the Esmoth goes down, but sister ships will take up the watch.

At the beginning of the war, naval disasters as the destruction of the Courageous and the Royal Oak were frequent. Since then, British naval losses are almost negligible. The High Seas Fleet, on which the success of the blockade depends, remains overwhelmingly preponderant.—New York Times.

Police Women In Britain

Used Successfully On Police Force And In Detective Work

In consequence of the successful use of women police officers of the Metropolitan Police in detective work, the Home Office has authorized an increase in the branch from 140 to 150.

Though women have been employed in uniform duties for some years with the status of men officers, few of them were called upon until recently to carry out inquiries in plain clothes, and only one was engaged in work such as the ordinary detective was asked to handle. Now 10 are to be made detectives.

The cunning which characterized the campaign of violence of members of the illegal I.R.A. led the authorities to employ women police officers, several of whom were able to shadow Irish suspects without themselves being noticed. When they gave evidence in the courts their names were carefully suppressed.

Since the outbreak of war women police have rendered valuable service in tracing and arresting enemy agents. The black-out reveals women officers have proved their capacity and courage in dealing with bag snatchers and pickpockets.—London Times.

German Secrets

Plans For Invasion Of Belgium Are Found On Prisoner

It is not a bad thing that the one who has been captured, according to the story of the German airplane that came down in Belgium a fortnight or so ago is the latest proof of that.

But by the story has leaked out, and there are enough hints at this time to make a whole. A German officer returning to the front with important papers, instead of going by train, persuaded a fellow officer to take him by air. The airplane came down by mistake in Belgium; the officer immediately tried to burn his papers but was stopped by Belgian soldiers, who took them from him. When under interrogation he proudly showed a number of the papers from the table where they had been put, and hung them in the air. But a Belgian officer retrieved them in time at the cost of a few turns and on examination they were found to contain full plans for the invasion of Belgium.

There seems to be good reason to think that but for their discovery the invasion would have been successful. In the last war one of the main reasons for the failure of the Nivelle offensive in 1917 was the capture of a French soldier with detailed plans on him. On the other side, it is impossible to estimate how much we owed to the knowledge of German plans to the capture of the current code-book when the cruiser "Magdeburg" was wrecked in the Baltic. Money, munitions, morale—all vital; yet chance can do far to outweigh them.—London Spectator.

Ekimov Relics

More Information Being Gleaned About His Northern Expedition

More and more we are becoming acquainted with the early history of the lives and habits of those who peopled the land long before the European settlers arrived, long before the Norseman travelled south from Hudson Bay.

Of all the aboriginal people, perhaps we know least about the Eskimo, or how far south they dwell. We think of them mainly as a peaceful race, who lived in igloos, paddled in kayaks, feasting on the fish of the sea, fond of blubber which warmed their bodies and gave them strength for their lumps. It is the impression we have of those northern residents and we have received that impression from books of travel and adventure.

But there is a good deal more to be learnt about them, and a story carried to newspapers by the Canadian press a short time ago, makes clear that the early history of Canada has yet to tell us some interesting things that have not yet been written.

Six ancient lances, believed by adventurous persons to have been carried by the little hamlet of Havre St. Pierre, on the Saguenay coast, on the Lower St. Lawrence.

The lances, measuring about 20 inches in length and all in perfect condition, were dug up by Paul Cormier, a coastal fisherman, in his little garden at Havre. Five of the lances are carved from slate stone, while the sixth was made from quartz.

That shows that the Eskimos either lived farther south than they do now, or that they formerly visited the countries of their northern neighbors, the Indians.

By the way, the spelling of the name has changed in recent years and the change has been almost universal. It used to be spelled "Eskimau" instead of "Eskimo." We thus spoke of the Eskimos or the Esquimaux. Perhaps it will be changed to something else in the future.

Possibly the Eskimos were much more populous than they are to-day, as were the Indians at the time the Eskimo population was placed at 5,979.

Tribute To Fleet

American Paper Refers To The Silent Pressure Of Sea Power

The New York Herald Tribune paid tribute to the "silent pressure" of sea power, which is a hundred times more powerful than the German by the "men from Plymouth and Portsmouth and Bristol and the Thames."

In an editorial prompted by the arrival at Plymouth of the cruiser Exeter, one of the cruisers which defeated the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee of Montevideo, the newspaper said the Exeter, with her 10,000 tons, is a hundred times more powerful than the German and reminded the world that the British Navy is still there.

Consul For Finland Says People Grateful For Canada's Help

When Finland has maintained its freedom and democracy, and peace has again settled on the little republic, the Finnish people will remember with thanks and gratitude the part which Canada, among the nations of the world, played in her deliverance." So promised A. K. Graham, consul for Finland, at the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, East York branch, at the R. H. McGregor school in Toronto.

"Finland has never asked, and I am sure she never will ask, for any help from her neighbors. Her language is her own and her soul has been fed by her people since the beginning of modern civilization. She has never attempted to step out of her boundaries and has asked only to retain that, which from time immemorial, has been her own."

"Finland has of course done a great deal herself, but she is receiving assistance and sympathetic aid from those nations who also love democracy and freedom."

Trying Something New

English Courts Substitute Week-End In Jail For Fine

Sometimes the English are accused of conforming too much to tradition. But they are now trying something new in connection with prison sentences. Men charged with minor offences are sent to a weekend prison, where the offenders may work out their "time" from Saturday morning to Sunday morning.

Often the argument is used that when a man is sent to prison his life is really the matter. Usually the man loses his job and is unemployed on his release. If he is merely fined, the fine generally comes out of the housekeeping allowance and not out of the man's own pocket.

The punishment of working during the week-end spare time would fall on the man himself and not on his family. It is pointed out that while the system would add to the cost of prison maintenance, such extra expense would be countered by the fact that public assistance in looking after the man's family would be reduced.

Well, we thought we would just mention the plan—Fort Erie Times-Review.

Perfect Co-operation

The extent to which the British and French navies are co-operating was revealed when it became known that the British fleet, which is the second contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force across the Atlantic, will be the command of a French admiral.

WE ALWAYS APPRECIATE THEM

The other day we asked a man for his printing and he told us:

"Oh, our printing doesn't seem's amount to much. All we have is a few small orders, and none of them ever run into anything that looks like money."

Those little orders are the kind that make our business.

Most of our business is in printing letterheads, envelopes, circulars, posters, office forms, and other small orders.

We appreciate a small order as well as we do a big one.

So, if you have any small orders for printing we want you to know that we are glad to get them. We appreciate them just as much—and take just as good care of them—as if they actually amounted to hundreds of dollars.

P. B. Nelson has moved into his new home near the school.

The jury had acquitted the defendant of horse stealing because of the powerful pleas of his lawyer. "Honor bright now, Bill," said the lawyer as the two left the court house, "you did steal that horse, didn't you?" "Well, now look here I'll be honest with you. I always did think I stole that horse until I heard you make that speech to the jury. Now I'll be doggone if I ain't got my doubts about it."

Old accidents: Benny Poythress, of Broadview, Va., is beginning to think he prefers some other day to the 13 for cotton ginning. On a Friday the 13th in October last year he broke his right wrist cranking a tractor in a cotton gin. Exactly a year before he had broken the same wrist at the same place at the same time on the same day of the month while ginning the same man's cotton. Eleven year old Jonny Holland of Fredonia, Kan., has lost his faith in signs. He stepped on the base of a sign near his home and the lion standard swung through the air and arched him on the forehead, knocking him unconscious and inflicting a severe gash. Farmers can't complain about the raising cost of living. Because for them there isn't any. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, with the 1936 base as 100, the 1939 index declined from 92.2 in the spring to 81.9 last fall. The 1938 index was 84.

The finals for the Morgan cup Southern Alberta must be finished by Monday March 4th. Here's hoping that Gleichen and Strathmore are in the final.

Unplaced applicants for work as registered in Alberta by the employment service of Canada totalled 4,903 as against 4,147 in 1939. This shows a decrease of 1,125 over the same period last year. British Columbia's registered unemployed is given as 13,440, having increased by 2,550 since the 1939 period. Saskatchewan and Manitoba show increases of 48 and 944 respectively.

The time of year has a great deal to do with our mode of dress, whether we live indoors or out. Our pleasures, sports and even dispositions are affected by the changes of the seasons. But less and less, due to modern processing and transportation methods, do our food habits change with the seasons. It is possible now with modern quick freezing and rapid transportation facilities to obtain almost the same foods all the year round. This is especially true of Canadian fish and a fact for which housewives can be genuinely grateful. Nowadays we do not have to think of seasons when we realize that most of the 60 varieties of Canadian fish can be purchased fresh or frozen at any time as well as those which are canned, smoked, dried or pickled. When using frozen fish it is best to cook it while still frozen; in this way the escape of juices is avoided. Allow a slightly longer time when using unfrozen fish.

The late Lord Tweedsmuir seemed to be in many ways an embodiment of Plato's idealistic "philosopher-king." Lord Tweedsmuir was not a king, but he was the representative of a king. He did not rule, but he exerted a strong influence for good upon those who did rule. He was a philosopher, an historian, a deep thinker and a learned man. His mind was profound, his thoughts were noble, and his expression of these thoughts both in speech and in writing was logical, clear, simple and concise. He illuminated, simplified and brought to life any subject he pondered on. Canada has lost a great man, a sincere humanitarian.
